

Maths Day!

On Friday 29th February 2011, Beaumont School came to St Mary's school for a code-cracking day.

At 10 AM they arrived and went to their classes for the day. In year 6 we split into teams and got to know each other. My team was called the Clue Detectives and in it was Me, Phobe, Mica and Molly.

We were told about the burglary of Mr. Pascal's Egyptian dice and were given sheets of paper to work out which of the suspects was the thief. In the end we did some co-ordinating to find where the treasure was hidden. Unfortunately, we didn't win but the Daring Ladies Detective Agency did. After that we had more than fun when we had a few marshmallows and spaghetti to make a 3d shape! We made a cube.

After lunch the whole of KS2 (including Beaumont school) gathered into the hall for a play called 'The Calculating Mr One'. The play was fantastic and everyone enjoyed it. Now I know how to multiply really easily thanks to their cool methods. While we were doing this, the rest of the school were having a lot of fun too, solving maths challenges in their classrooms.

Then we said farewell to Beaumont school. We hope they come again. Thanks to the amazing theatre group who put on a groovy performance. Thanks to Mrs Dowling and the rest of the teachers because this would have never happened without them. I also have to say thanks to Beaumont school for joining us.
